NOTICE OF REMOVAL.

MESSRS. HUNT AND KAYE, Publicans, of the Elmsall Inn, Queenbeyan, take this opportunity of returning thanks to their numerous friends and the public in general, for the kind and extensive support they have received for the last five years, and also to inform them, that they have removed their business from Manaroo-street, into their new and spacious premises on the Molonglo side of the Queenbeyan river. Where they hope by the same attention to the comforts of the public at large, a continuance of the favours so liberally bestowed upon them.

In addition to the stock generally kept by Messrs. Hunt and Kaye they have lately made large purchases of Spirits, Wines, and Malt Liquors, of the most approved qualities, and the premises they now occupy, being more extensive than those they have left, they are enabled to give such accommodation to families and parties travelling, that cannot be surpassed by any innkeeper from Sydney to Manaroo.

Their stabling is conducted by most expert ostlers, and a constant supply of provender kept by the most approved description will be found to give every assistance. H. and K. have an advantage over other houses in growing their own corn, hay, and oats, all of which are supplied to horses coupled to their care with an unsparing hand.

In consequence of several herds of cattle and sheep travelling at the same time, inconvenience has been felt by their mixing together; to obviate this, Messrs. Hunt and Kaye have built stockyards, capable of holding at the same time several flocks and herds.

SHIPPING STATISTICS.

The following information is gathered from statistical returns presented by the Colonial Secretary to the Council. The number and tonnage of vessels entered inwards and outwards in this Colony from 1826 to 1842, also some particulars relating to our fisheries, will not be [illegible] of place in our shipping columns.

In 1826 the number of vessels from Great Britain [illegible] 33—tonnage 11,848; in 1827, 1828, [illegible] the numbers increased; in the [illegible] year the number of vessels was 62—tonnage 21,963. The arrivals from Great Britain [illegible] fell off, and it was not until 1838 that they reached so high a number as in 1829. In 1838, however, there were 102 arrivals—tonnage 41,848, nearly double that which it had been in the previous year. The increase from 1838 to 1841 was rapid; in the latter year the number of vessels arrived was 251—tonnage 106,332. In 1842, there was a large falling off; the number of vessels being only 137—tonnage 55,144.

The returns of vessels arriving from New Zealand can only be ascertained since 1836, as before that year New Zealand was included amongst foreign states. In 1836, there were entered inwards from New Zealand 41 vessels—tonnage 5,430; in the following year the number of vessels decreased to 36, but their tonnage was large, and amounted to 5,480; in the year 1838, there was a still further falling off, both in number and tonnage; in 1839 and 1840 there was a considerable increase, the number of vessels in the latter year amounting to 68—tonnage 13,123; in 1841 there was again a falling off, but in 1842 the number of vessels was larger than in any preceding year, numbering 81—tonnage 14,085.

With respect to the South Sea Islands, the same difficulty exists, as regards the years preceding 1835, as with New Zealand. In 1835, the number of vessels was 12—tonnage 2,282; after this the number of vessels did not in any year exceed seven, until 1842, when there were 19 arrivals—tonnage 2,902.

The returns of arrivals from other British colonies are complete from the year 1826, when the number of vessels was 23—tonnage, 3,969. There appears to have been a steady increase from year to year to 1840, in which the number of vessels had reached to 347—tonnage, 53,625. In the two last years there has been a falling off: the arrivals in 1842 numbering only 282—tonnage, 42,365.

The returns of arrivals from the fisheries commence with 1835; the greatest number of arrivals was in 1837, when they were 48—tonnage, 13,004; the smallest number of arrivals in 1842, when they were only 20—tonnage, 5,806.

From 1835 to 1842, inclusive, there were 47 arrivals from the United States, 13 of which, with a tonnage of 4,754, arrived in 1841; last year the number was only 7—tonnage, 2,762.

We now come to foreign States, in which, as before stated, New Zealand and the South Sea Islands are included for several years. The largest number of vessels from foreign States arrived in 1840 and 1842: in 1840 the number was 63—tonnage, 20,047; in 1842, the number was 82—tonnage, 20,857.

Taking the whole of the returns, there appears to have been an increase in the number of vessels entered inwards in each succeeding year, until 1842. The number in 1841 was 714—tonnage 183,778; in 1842 there was a falling off in number to 628, and tonnage, to 143,921.

There is also a report of the shipping entered outwards, and from the general totals of inwards and outwards it may be gathered, that in the number of vessels cleared outwards there was a surplus of five over those cleared inwards; but at the same time there was a falling off in the tonnage of those cleared outwards, as compared with the inwards, of 8951 tons.

In addition to the above information with respect to shipping, we have also a return of vessels built in the colony, and also of those registered in the colony, from 1822 to 1842, inclusively. The total number of vessels built in the colony in these twenty-one years appears to be 219, having a total tonnage of 11,095 tons. The largest number built in any year was 35, having a tonnage of 2,074 tons; this was in 1841. The number of vessels registered in the colony in the same twenty-one years was 714, having a tonnage of 77,668 tons.

It will have been observed before, that the smallest number of vessels from the fisheries, for any year for which a return has been made, was in 1842. On turning to the Returns of Exports, we find, also, that there was less sperm oil exported in 1842 than in any preceding year since 1829, the quantity exported in 1842 amounting only to 957 tuns: the largest quantity of sperm oil exported in any one year was 2698 tuns, in 1835. The return of the amount of black oil exported is also discouraging, the quantity in 1842 being only 1171 tuns; the largest quantity in any one year previously was 4297 tuns, exported in 1841. There was a considerable decrease also in whalebone, only 60 tons 5 cwt. having been exported in 1842; in 1840, the quantity exported was 250 tons. The whole value of our exports in oils, bone, and skins, as entered in the return of exports for 1842, was £77,012;—a less amount than in any previous year since 1830. In 1830, the value exported was £50,471; ten years later, in 1840, the value of the same articles exported was £224,144. In 1841, there was a falling off of nearly £100,000; and last year a still further decrease, as already shown.

The ship Persian has hauled to Campbell's Wharf, and the Christina to Thom's Wharf, to discharge.

The Merope, Captain Hogg, put into Rotumah on the 12th June, where she landed five men. She was then two months and a half from Sydney, clean.

The "Alert."—We have been requested to state, that owing to unforeseen circumstances, this vessel will not sail for London until to-morrow; her mail will consequently remain open until this afternoon.

The Trinidad reports the ship Urgent and barque Sarah Scott as having left Manila, for Sydney direct, on the 15th June. The schooners Royal Mail and Anita, from New Zealand, had both arrived at Manila. The Trinidad spoke the barque Louisa Campbell, from the South Sea Islands, bound to China, on a pearling expedition; and the whaling barque Marquis of Lonsdale, of London, in the straits of Basse Land, out twenty months, with 500 barrels sperm oil; and the schooner Sisters, hence, bound to Hobart Town, on Thursday last, off Cape Howe. The cholera was not near so prevalent at Manila as it had been; very few cases had been heard of prior to the sailing of the Trinidad, and those were among the natives of the colony.

THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

It will be perceived, by the notices of motion, that Dr. Lang intends, on the 21st instant, to move four resolutions respecting the constitution of the Legislative Council, the whole of which, we should imagine, will meet with general support.

The first resolution merely sets forth, that the Act of Parliament (5 and 6 Victoria, cap. 76) and the Electoral Act of the late Legislative Council are "in several important particulars, inadequate to meet the actual wants of the colony." We do not see any particular occasion for this resolution, as those that follow would be complete in themselves; but the fact set forth in it is, we apprehend, incontrovertible.

The second resolution asserts, as the opinion of the Council, that it is desirable that tenants of land "holding underleases of not fewer than —— years, should have votes." With this, also, we entirely agree. It is desirable that the class of small farmers should be encouraged as far as possible, as it is by them only that some of the large landed estates will be brought into cultivation for the next twenty years. If the blank is filled up with "five," we have no doubt that a very respectable, and in time numerous, addition to the constituencies will be obtained.

The next resolution recommends that all persons holding a license to depasture stock on Crown Lands should have a vote. We need hardly say that this resolution has our most cordial concurrence. As the franchise at present stands, the most important class in the community have no share whatever in the government of the country.

The fourth and concluding resolution of the series affirms that Sydney ought to return four instead of two members. We have no doubt that the population of Sydney at this moment exceeds forty thousand, or one-fourth of the entire population of the colony; and therefore it ought certainly to send more than two, or one-twelfth of the elective members, into the Council. But we do not consider this resolution of so much importance as the previous one. If Sydney only returned one member, it would be sure to be adequately represented. In the first place, all the Government officers live in Sydney; and in the next place, the wide extent of the colony will always have the effect of inducing remote districts to return gentlemen residing in Sydney. At least one-half of the members of the present Legislative Council are directly interested in Sydney. But still the population of Sydney is so great that the inhabitants have a claim to return more than two members, and we do not expect that there will be any opposition to the resolution. It strikes us, however, that if two additional members are apportioned to Sydney, it would be well to divide the city into two districts—say, north and south of King-street, and to return two members for each division.

PORT PHILLIP.

There is but little news in the Port Phillip papers, beyond the squabbling of the Town Councillors, which continue to be as violent and disgraceful as ever. We perceive that a Committee of the Council had been appointed to prepare a petition to the Legislative Council, praying that £10,000 may be granted from the general revenue towards the repairs of the streets of Melbourne. Considering the recent formation of the town, we should think that a grant of £1500 or £2000, to be spent subject to the approval of Mr. La Trobe, might with justice be granted; but the sum proposed to be asked for is quite out of the question.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

1. Dr. Nicholson, to move, That an address be presented to His Excellency the Governor, praying that he will be pleased to order the following returns to be laid on the table of this House.
1. A return of the number of prisoners that have been landed in Sydney from Norfolk Island from the year 1838 to the present period, distinguishing respectively the number of those possessing conditional pardons; those the period of whose sentence of transportation has expired; and those whose sentences are still to be completed in New South Wales

Tuesday, September 19.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

1. Mr. Wentworth to move for a Select Committee to inquire into the circumstances attending the riots at the election for the City of Sydney; whether the same were attributable to any neglect of the stipendiary Magistrates of the City, or any of them; whether they were accidental, or the result of any previous design or organization; and whether the necessary steps were adopted to bring to punishment the authors of those riots, and particularly the perpetrators of the homicide or murder committed on that occasion.

Thursday, September 21.

1. Dr. Lang to move the following resolutions:—
1. That it is the opinion of this Council, that the system of representation established for this colony under the Act of the Imperial Parliament 5 and 6, Victoria, Cnap. 76), and the Act passed in the last session of the late Legislative Council for the Division of the Colony into Electoral Districts, is, in several important particulars, inadequate to meet the actual wants of the colony, unsuited to its social condition, and likely, if not speedily amended, to prove a serious hinderance to its future advancement.
2. That as it is the obvious interest of this community to promote by every possible means the formation and settlement of an agricultural population of virtuous character and industrious habits, throughout this territory, it is the opinion of this Council, that the elective franchise ought to be extended to all tenants of land, holding under leases of not fewer than —— years, and paying not less than twenty pounds sterling of yearly rent; such persons being generally of a higher grade in the social scale, as well as of much more importance as a body in this colony, than a large proportion of the mere occupants of dwelling-houses in towns, paying not more than twenty pounds of annual rent.
3. That as the prosperity and progressive advancement of this colony depend in great measure on the facilities afforded for the rearing of all descriptions of stock on the waste lands of the territory, as well beyond as within the present limits of location, it is the opinion of this Council, that the elective franchise should also be extended to all persons holding a license from the local Government to depasture stock on the Crown lands of the territory; the fact of holding such a license, being, in the estimation of this Council, sufficient evidence of the respectable standing of the individual, and of his fitness, in every respect, for the exercise of the elective franchise.
4. That it is the opinion of this Council, that the City of Sydney, taking into consideration its actual extent and population, the comparatively large amount of capital invested in its buildings, vessels, mills, handicrafts, and manufactures, and its great and growing importance as the principal emporium of British commerce in this hemisphere—is not adequately represented in this Council, and that it ought, therefore, to return two additional members to this House.

Tuesday, September 26.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

1. Sheriff Bill; second reading.

ASSIZE INTELLIGENCE.

Berrima.—Thursday, September 7.

Before Sir James Dowling, Chief Justice.

LIBEL.

Mr. Cheeke, on behalf of the defendant, moved for a postponement of the trial, on the ground of insufficiency of notice, it having been signed by R. J. Want, the solicitor for the prosecution, instead of the Attorney-General, by whom Mr. Cheeke contended it ought to have been signed, and was a mere nullity otherwise.

Mr. Manning, for the prosecutor, contended that the notice of trial had been drawn up in the usual form; that form he would admit, was an incorrect one, but it was the one always adopted in practice, and obtained in a printed form from the Crown Solicitor's Office. If that notice was bad, all bail notices were. Besides the defendant advanced no reason why he should not take his trial, but merely the blank denial that he was not prepared.

His Honor decided that the trial must be postponed till next Assizes, the question being whether a notice from a private prosecutor could be taken as a notice from the Attorney-General.

CATTLE-STEALING.

Joshua King, of Berrima, was then placed at the bar, charged with having, at Broulee, on the 15th of March last, stolen one ox, the property of Mr. J. Palmer, of Broulee.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

William Waite, blacksmith, deposed: that on the 11th or 12th of March last, he drove forty or fifty cattle from Maneroo to Broulee, one among them being the property of Mr. Palmer, and branded P on the rump off side, P on off rump, and No. 2 off shoulder, which beast was afterwards missed. Witness was shown two pieces of hide on the Wednesday following, at Mr. Nicholson's, and on one of those pieces he saw the brand No. 2 on the off shoulder; he knew it to be the off shoulder by the tail being to it; he had known the prisoner seven years; he also was a blacksmith, but had cattle of his own.

Cross-examined by Mr. Cheeke, who defended the prisoner: I knew the beast by its peculiar colour; I was not told to bring it down to Broulee; I did not bring it down, it walked; I had my eye on it all the way, but not when asleep. (Laugh.) It was a secure paddock I put them in; not secure all round, but on the road-side; it was a secure paddock on one side. (Laugh.) I picked the cattle up promiscuously, and turned them in promiscuously. (Laugh.) That is the strip with the brand No. 2 on it; can't swear to it now, it is so dried up; I did not see No. 2 on it at Nicholson's till it was pointed out by my cousin; there were no tracks from the paddock after the beast was missed, but only to it; part of the fence was two-railed; it was a very wild beast; I was in trouble about cattle once myself; had my eye on the beast all the time. (Laugh.)

Charles Waite, cousin of William Waite, accompanied him to Broulee with the cattle, and saw them put in his father's paddock; the beast belonging to Mr. Palmer was among them, which beast was afterwards missed; witness recognised the piece of hide at Mr. Nicholson's, which he believed to belong to the hide of Mr. Palmer's beast; there was a mark on it where the brand should be; witness knew it by the colour.

By Mr. Cheeke: Another beast was missed besides Mr. Palmer's; could not swear that was the hide—of course not; had known the prisoner eleven or twelve years.

William Waite recalled: I can't swear that the hide produced is the one I saw at Mr. Nicholson's; can't swear that the beast has not gone home again; have known them return 200 miles.

Charles Throsby, Esq., J.P., deposed: That in consequence of information he went to the prisoner's and found two pieces of hide concealed under two separate logs of wood; they had been burnt, and were scarcely cold; witness took the pieces of hide to Mr. Nicholson's, where the brand No. 2 was pointed out by Mr. Waite; it was very plain; the hide produced in Court appeared to be the same.

John Nicholson, jun., deposed: That he saw the pieces of a hide found at the prisoner's; witness's dog having found one of them; they had been burnt very recently, but seemed to be cold; next morning he went, together with Mr. Throsby, Mr. Badgery, and a constable, to the house of the prisoner's father, where they saw in cask between two and three hundred weight of beef, together with a piece of fresh beef, and a kidney; the meat in the cask had been recently salted; they then went to the prisoner's about two hundred yards off, and found about forty or fifty pounds of beef in the same state; prisoner being questioned, said he had killed a bullock lately, but would not show the hide.

Mr. Henry Badgery, settler, confirmed the above testimony, and added that the prisoner's wife begged him to show it, as he knew it was his own, and no harm could come of it; they then went near the place where the hide had been found, a few yards from the house, and saw an old dead tree, which had been recently burnt at one end; by it was a bullock's horn, several bones, and pieces of hide, similar to the hide found the day before; they then went to the barn, and found part of a paunch, a quantity of blood, and tackle for suspending cattle for slaughter; they then left the place; witness pointed out the brand No. 2 on the piece of hide produced.

Cross-examined by Mr. Cheeke: I am known as the lawyer of Sutton Forest. (Laughter.) I found bones of different heads by the log of wood. Had always a good opinion of the prisoner.

Mr. Cheeke then addressed the Jury in favour of the prisoner, and called Mr. Nicholson, sen., who gave the prisoner an excellent character.

Several other gentlemen were ready to do the same, but the Solicitor General conceding that point, and admitting that there was no doubt of the previous good character of the prisoner, they were not called.

They Jury, after a few minutes' consideration, found the prisoner guilty, but on account of his previous good character, recommended him to mercy. The prisoner was then remanded.

CATTLE STEALING.

John Haig was indicted for stealing, on the 15th of March, 1842, an ox, the property of Mr. E. Ryan, near Yass.

Connor Hayes, stockman to Mr. Ryan, deposed: That he saw a lot of cattle at Mr. Beckham's, and identified one of them as his master's property. He knew it by peculiar marks, although it had JH (the brand of the prisoner) on it, and not his master's. The reason it had not his master's brand was, that it was stolen, or missed, when a calf six months old.

Henry Agnew, assigned servant to Mr. Bray, of Bender, deposed: That he helped the prisoner to put the brand JH on the beast in Mr. Bray's yard. Mr. Bray's brand was JB, but the prisoner had a brand of his own. He saw the prisoner cut it and other calves between the toes, to keep it from running away; he never knew that done by any one else before or since. Witness had been twice in the bush, and in an ironed gang. He had seen calves with the brand of ER (Mr. Ryan's brand) cut in the feet by the prisoner, but never told any one.

Edward Beckham, Esq., Commissioner of Crown Lands for the Lachlan District, deposed: That in consequence of information received from Henry Agnew, he took charge of some cattle at Glass's and Bray's stations, and left word for Hayes to follow him to Yass, which he did, and identified one of them as Mr. Ryan's.

Mr. Cheeke, who defended the prisoner, said he would not trouble the Jury with many remarks; he would merely mention that the prisoner had summoned a great number of witnesses, and the only reason they were not in attendance was that they lived at a distance, and the prisoner was not able to pay their expenses to Berrima.

The Court then adjourned.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

Saturday.

CITY OF SYDNEY.

The Warden reported that in consequence of the resolution which had been arrived at by the Council at its last meeting, he had waited upon His Excellency the Governor, in order to ascertain whether the City of Sydney was or was not included in their district, when His Excellency had replied in the negative, and had altered the charter to that effect.

MEETINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

The Warden said, that it would be necessary for the Council to fix upon some place in which to have their office, and to hold the periodical meetings, and it appeared to him that according to the terms of the Act they would at present be compelled to meet at some place within their own district. This being the case they would of course be prohibited from meeting within the limits of the city itself; but as this appeared to him to be far the most desirable course, he had applied to the Government for information upon the subject, and had been told that leave might be obtained for their sitting in the city by means of a Bill to be passed for that purpose by the Legislative Council, and that in petitioning for this Bill they might also apply to have any acts legalized which might have been before disputable in consequence of their having sat in the city.

After some discussion upon this point, a resolution was passed at the instance of Mr. Allen, requesting the Warden to take the necessary steps in order to legalize the meetings of the Council in the city.

ROADS.

The Warden reported, that having enquired of the Governor how soon it would be necessary for the Council to take charge of the roads within the district, and which of such roads they would have to take charge, he had been informed by His Excellency that the Council should take charge of all the roads in the district immediately, except the high road to Parramatta, and such roads as were provided for under the Parish Road Act.

PRESIDENCY OF THE COUNCIL.

The Warden said, that according to the terms of the Act, it was imperative that he (the Warden) should preside at all meetings, and no provision whatever was made for the probable event of his absence on any of these occasions. Sensible of the inconvenience of this, he had applied to the Governor for information upon the point, and had been told by His Excellency that the Council would have to form a by-law appointing a permanent Deputy Chairman, or elect some person to act in that capacity at each meeting of the Council from which the Warden should be absent.

DISTRICT OFFICERS.

A good deal of discussion took place as to the appointment of a treasurer, a secretary, and a surveyor for the district, and as to the propriety of amalgamating the two former offices into one. It appeared however to be the opinion of a majority of the members that separate persons would be required in these capacities, and that the appointment of the Treasurer might for the present be deferred. The appointment of a Surveyor and a Secretary were decided to be immediately necessary, and Saturday, the 30th instant, was fixed upon for that purpose,—the salary of the former being fixed at £200 per annum, with £50 extra in lieu of travelling expenses, and that of the latter £150 per annum. It was understood also that both of these officers should devote their whole time to the duties of their respective situations. The preliminary arrangements having been settled, it was determined that advertisements calling for candidates for the above situations should be inserted in the papers.

After some further conversation, principally of a desultory nature, the Council adjourned.

CITY COUNCIL.

A Meeting of the City Council will be held at the Town Hall, on Wednesday next, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

1. To consider such memorials and petitions as may be presented.
2. To proceed with the business still standing over, of which notice has already been given.
3. To resume the consideration of the By-laws.
4. To receive Reports from the Chairmen of the various Committees.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

By Alderman Wilshire,—

5. That whereas the sum of £2100 has been collected, by assessment on the inhabitants of the City of Sydney, and paid over by the Treasurer to the credit of the City Fund; and whereas, by the 4th clause of the 6th Victoria No. 5, of the Act of the Governor and Legislative Council, the raising of such sum entitles the Corporation to the payment of the like sum out of the general revenue of the colony—it be therefore ordered, that the Town Clerk do write to His Excellency the Governor for a warrant, or order in writing, for the payment so to be made out of the general revenue.

By Alderman Flood,—

6. That all advertisements relating to the Corporation be for the future, except when otherwise ordered, inserted in the New South Wales Government Gazette only.
7. That the Petition Committee be requested to draw up a memorial, to be submitted to the Legislative Council through one of the members for Sydney, praying that the Act of Council sexto Victoriæ, No. 3, may be amended in sundry parts, as recommended by the Committee, and particularly that the franchise be reduced from £25 to £15.
8. That the City Surveyor do immediately take the necessary steps for laying out the streets in Phillip Ward and Cook Ward, and that when the streets are so laid out and approved by the Government, posts be erected as boundary marks, to prevent encroachment on the same.

COURT OF REQUESTS.

Saturday.

Before the Chief Commissioner.

M'KENZIE v. TURNBULL.

In this cause the defendant had applied to be allowed his groats, having been lodged in gaol on Friday evening. On being sworn the applicant deposed that he had no means of supporting himself while confined there. He had not, however, given notice of the present application to the plaintiff.

The Commissioner informed the applicant that it was imperative on him to give notice to the plaintiff, as the Court had no power to make any order for groats until the plaintiff had an opportunity of tendering such opposition to the order as he might think available; the defendant was then remanded back to gaol, until he could prove service of notice.

LEON v. TOMLIN.

In this cause the defendant had also been brought up on an application for groats. He had been incarcerated on the preceding day—he had no means of supporting himself—all the property he had in the world were the clothes on his back—he had worked for three days previous to his being taken, for which six shillings were due him; but his master would not pay it to any one on his account, nor could he compel him to give it up while in custody.

The Court ordered the plaintiff to pay the defendant's groats every Monday, between the hours of ten and four o'clock, to the amount of 4s. per week, so long as the defendant was kept in custody; the first payment to be made to-day.

PRITCHARD v. DOUGLAS.

This was also an application for groats by the defendant, who had been lodged in gaol on the preceding day. He had been twenty-three weeks out of work, and was sued for 11s.; he had no means whatever of subsistence while so detained, having been obliged to sell what furniture he had in order to procure subsistence for himself and wife. The Court granted the application, the first payment to be made to-day.

EAGLING v. MACINTYRE.

This cause had been deferred in consequence of the conflicting evidence which was adduced at the hearing of the cause on Tuesday last, as to whether the defendant had been in Court on that day.

Joseph Hughes, the agent of the plaintiff, being sworn, deposed: That he knew the defendant; that on Tuesday forenoon last, while standing outside the Court-house, a woman, whom he took to be the defendant, came up to him and asked him what number was on; he told her, and in reply asked what number she was attending on, to which she replied 200; he told her in return that it was no use for her to attend to dispute the account, as she had already admitted it to him; she then told him, that all she was attending for was to get time. He saw her a second time, when she told him that the account was not her's, but Dr. Stewart's, for whom she had obtained the things for which the summons had been issued. She had on a black silk dress, a veil, and a brown parasol. The thing which made him so certain that he had seen the defendant at the Court was, her mentioning the number. He had also seen her yesterday (Friday) at her residence, and his belief was, that she was the same woman he had seen at the Court on Tuesday; but, although pressed several times by the Court and defendant's agent, would not swear positively that the woman he saw on Tuesday was the same woman he had subpœnaed on Friday.

William Harrison: Had been attending the Court on the forenoon of Tuesday last, and saw the preceding witness talking to a woman, whom he believed to be Mrs. Macintyre; and deposed to the conversation as stated by Hughes. He only saw the side of the woman's face, but could not swear positively.

Mrs. Eagling, the wife of the plaintiff, deposed: That she resides in the same neighbourhood with the defendant. On Tuesday morning last she saw a woman, whom she believed to be the defendant, whom she knew very well, pass her house in a gig with a gentleman now in Court, named Stewart, they were driving towards Sydney; her dress corresponded with that described by the first witness; when the gig passed she did not see the defendant's face, as she had a parasol, which was up, and held so as to hide her face from the witness; but so certain was she that it was the defendant who had been driven past, that she sent word of the circumstance to her husband, who was then up stairs.

Mary Ann Sims knew the defendant very well, had seen her at the house of the plaintiff some time before; she had seen her in a gig with Mr. Stewart, driving out between two and three o'clock on Tuesday last; she thought it was defendant she had seen; the spot where she saw her was a little beyond Byrnes's on the road; she knew the defendant very well; but did not take particular notice of her for the purpose of being able to swear positively that defendant was the woman she had then seen.

Another witness, named Weedon, knew the defendant well, but could not recollect when he had last seen her; he had not heard of her being ill.

Joseph Hughes here informed the Court that there was another witness, a girl, who had told him she had seen the defendant put the horse to Mr. Stewart's gig on the morning of Tuesday; he said, if necessary, he could also prove that on the day before the cause was heard, the defendant went as far as Petersham in a gig with her agent, Mr. Stewart; and if so, he thought she could not be so ill as not to have come to Court on the day following, as when he saw her, on Friday, she had walked from her house to the gate, when he served her with the subpœna.

Mr. Stewart, who lives in the same house with the defendant, came into Sydney on Tuesday morning in a gig; there was no female with him in the gig when he passed Eagling's; when he left on Tuesday morning the defendant was so unwell that he considered it impossible she could be brought into Sydney with safety, even in a coach. He had seen her daily since, and she was still so unwell as not to be able to attend. He had since repeatedly spoken to her about her being said to have been at the Court on Tuesday, but had never once heard from her, either directly or indirectly, that she had been at the Court on that day. He believed she had not been once in Sydney during the last two weeks; she was anxious to get the cause defended, because he told him some rum was charged in the account which she had never received; and if the account had been admitted by her to be correct, if she had been unable to pay it, the witness would have done it for her.

Samuel Hawthorn, in the employ of Mr. Stewart, surgeon, had been sent out with a certificate to defendant's house on Monday night: on the following day he had been ordered to saddle a horse for his master, to go and visit the defendant, who was reported to be very unwell, and believed his master did go there. Witness had brought the certificate to the Court on Tuesday, and produced it; he did not see defendant about the Court while attending to produce it. After the case had been heard, he returned home, and told his master that his certificate had been disgraced in Court, when his master immediately came in, and deposed to the truth of the certificate.

The certificate was here read, and set forth that the defendant was in such a state of illness, that she could not with safety be brought into Sydney.

There was also a second certificate appended to it by Mr. Duigan, setting forth the same fact.

Mr. Duigan being called, informed the Court that he had not seen the defendant for about three weeks previous to signing the certificate of Mr. Surgeon Stewart, but he knew she was in a very precarious state for some time before, and he had since seen her, and fully believed she was in such a state that she could not be brought to Court without endangering her life; he had seen her this (Saturday) morning, she was still very ill. Mr. Duigan also produced a second certificate by himself, as to the state in which he last saw defendant; and a similar one was read, signed by a professional gentleman named Day. This closed the case for the defendant.

The Commissioner stated, that from the full hearing the case had now obtained, it was evident to him that it was not one of those causes in which his decision could be altered, whether the defendant was present or absent, because, by the evidence of the plaintiff, the plaintiff's wife, as well as their agent, Joseph Hughes, it was clear defendant had admitted the debt, and therefore judgment must issue. He was glad that so far the way had been cleared for his deciding on the merits of the case, as from the conflicting nature of the evidence, respecting the presence or absence of the defendant at the Court on Tuesday, if that had been material, he would have felt great difficulty in deciding. He could not, however, allow it to pass unnoticed, that Hughes, on the present occasion had not sworn so positively as when the case was first heard, and coupling this fact with the circumstance, that not one of the other witnesses had ventured to do so, he was constrained, by the nature of the evidence on the other side, to state that he believed the certificates of surgeons Stewart and Duigan. The whole of the evidence given for the defendant had impressed his mind with the belief that she had not been in Sydney on Tuesday. He also felt it due to the plaintiff's witnesses to state, that so far as he had seen of their evidence that none of them had in any part of their depositions attempted to mislead the Court, they had probably been mistaken as to the person of the female whom they thought the defendant, and therefore no blame could be attached to them for acting on the impressions in their minds. He regarded the present as one of those cases in which, from the whole of the evidence being of a circumstantial nature, it required great care and attention to arrive at a true conclusion. The Court then ordered judgment to be entered for the plaintiff, and allowed a fortnight for the defendant to pay. During the progress of the case, it came out that the sum sued for was about £5. The Commissioner also incidentally remarked, that until he had heard the evidence of Surgeon Stewart on Tuesday afternoon, in support of his certifiate, when the latter was contrasted with the direct and positive evidence given by Hughes, he felt himself bound, in the discharge of his duty, to express himself as he had done in regard to medical certificates which could be so positively contradicted, as the one in question had been, previous to Dr. Stewart appearing in support of it, and that relying on Dr. Stewart's testimony he had postponed his decision until (to-day) Saturday.

DUIGAN v. WALFORD.

In this cause the plaintiff had originally summoned the defendant for the sum of £2 2s., for professional services rendered to Mrs. Walford during her confinement nearly two years ago, and obtained a judgment by default. Payment was now resisted by defendant, on the ground that plaintiff had not performed the services charged for; and Mrs. Price, who was a matron of experience, having deposed that the plaintiff left Mrs. Walford, who was very ill, before she was delivered, and had not returned until the child was born, and that no other person was present but herself, and that she had discharged the duties of accoucheur on that occasion, the claim was dismissed; the plaintiff being allowed only for attending the Court, on the present occasion, as defendant had, when judgment was given, neglected to appear and oppose the plaintiff, as he had now done with success.

OVERCHARGE BY A BAILIFF.

After the business of the Court had been gone through, Mr. Therry enquired if there was a person named Lawrence M'Henry sometimes employed as a bailiff, and if so, whether he was in attendance. On M'Henry presenting himself, Mr. Therry stated that he had received two complaints against him, and for which he should order that in future he should not be at all employed by the Court. In one instance he had most grossly insulted a most respectable gentleman in the public streets, by putting in force an execution for a small sum, for which judgment had gone by default: it was an unpleasant duty which bailiffs had to perform, and therefore it became them to perform it in such a manner as to give the least possible offence; but taking the two charges against him (M'Henry) together, it was evident that he was one of those persons who prided themselves in annoying respectable people as far as they could with impunity. The second charge against him (M'Henry) was, for having arrested another respectable person for a sum of little more than £2, and compelled him to give him 4s., in addition to the amount of the judgment, before he would allow him his liberty. This sum of 4s., which M'Henry had exacted, was not allowed by the Act, and therefore M'Henry must repay it. The Court of Requests' Act made no allowance for making an arrest, and all that a bailiff could charge was for keep. If such a charge as 4s. was countenanced for each arrest, it would be possible for a bailiff, who got a dozen of these writs to execute, to make 48s. per day, by going and obtaining payment under the sanction of such documents; this was not at all provided for, nor intended by the Act, although where there was extra trouble, &c., incurred, the parties obliged might make a reasonable recompence if the case required it.

New South Wales Magazine.—The ninth number of the New South Wales Magazine was published on Saturday. Its contents are varied, and more than usually interesting, particularly the articles on Scotch Banking and Agriculture, and the Maiden Week of the Legislative Council. Since the introduction of political articles, without which we are confident no periodical will succeed, the New South Wales Magazine has considerably improved, and is well worthy of the support of the public. The number before us contains a view of the South-eastern Corner of Sydney, taken from the Surry Hills. We have also to acknowledge the receipt of the first number of Arden's Magazine, but have not had an opportunity of perusing it.

Theatre.—The performances at the theatre this evening are for the benefit of Mr. Lazar, who has been a most indefatigable manager, and has great claims on play-goers, on account of the very excellent pieces which he has selected for their entertainment.

School of Arts.—Mr. A. a'Beckett will lecture at the School of Arts, this evening, at half-past seven o'clock, on Animal Mechanics. We understand his Excellency the Governor has intimated his intention of being present.

Rencontre with the Blacks.—We have been favoured with the following extract of a letter from a settler at the Grange, giving an account of a rencontre between a small party of Captain Dana's native police, and a horde of predatory savages. The writer says:—"Captain Dana called here on his return from the Victoria Ranges, whither he had gone with four of his black police in search of a party of blacks, who had driven away about 150 of Mr. Dwyer's sheep. On the second night after starting they came to a creek, where they had to leave their horses and proceed on foot, the country being so thickly timbered as to render any other mode of progressing impracticable. About a mile from the creek they fell in with a regularly built sheep-yard, where the blacks had encamped a few nights before; and about half a mile further on they fell in with a second yard, in which the tracks of sheep were still quite fresh. As it was obvious they were now close upon the objects of their pursuit, the utmost caution was observed, and after advancing a little further they succeeded, unperceived, in coming within view of a third yard, where were the sheep and about thirty blacks. Captain Dana immediately formed his men, and so judicious were his arrangements, that, small as was his force, he had the blacks hemmed in on every side before they were even aware of his approach. On the alarm being given, the blacks attempted to make off, driving the sheep before them; but finding themselves beleagured, they "showed fight," and Captain Dana had to order his men to fire in self-defence. The first volley brought down several of the savages, but it was not until some hard scuffling had taken place, and a considerable number of the blacks were killed and wounded, that the marauders thought fit to beat a retreat, scampering off among the rocks, and leaving the field in possession of the victors. Between 80 and 90 of the stolen sheep were recovered. Captain Dana says he witnessed a single-handed fight between one of the black policemen and a wild black, in which both displayed the most determined bravery. The Policeman, armed with only a musket, was trying to capture his opponent alive, and the savage seemed bent on taking his assailant's life. The struggle was long and arduous. The savage attacked the policeman with his tomahawk, who warded off the blows with his musket, the ramrod of which was so twisted in the struggle as to be rendered useless. Finding he could make nothing at close quarters, the savage made off to a distance and flung his waddie at the head of his opponent, who, however, contrived to dodge the missle and escaped unhurt. The savage then betook himself to the summit of an adjacent rock, whence he hurled stones with such rapidity, and at the same time with such accuracy of aim, that the policeman was compelled to bring him down with a shot, which terminated the contest. The policemen behaved throughout with the greatest bravery and forbearance, and Captain Dana speaks in terms of high approbation of the sagacity they displayed in the pursuit."—Port Phillip Patriot.

Odd Fellows' Hall.—On the evening of Monday last, a grand assembly ball was held at the Odd Fellows' Hall, opposite the Hay Market, Brickfield Hill, which reflects much credit upon the worthy host. The large spacious verandah, running the entire length of the ball-room, was completely closed in with canvas, and used as a promenade; the union jack and other appropriate flags were tastefully displayed on the inside of the verandah, which added much to the splendour of the scene. The expression of satisfaction and commendation was unanimous amongst the numerous and highly respectable party assembled at the combination of taste and comfort displayed. The viands were of the very best quality. Dancing was kept up with much spirit, and without intermission, until past five o'clock in the morning, when the company separated in perfect good humour, and highly gratified with their night's entertainment, and wishing a repetition.—Communicated.

The Commander of the Forces.—Sir Maurice Charles O'Connell is the youngest son of Charles Phillip O'Connell, Esq., of Riverston, in the County Kerry, in Ireland. He was at a very early age sent to France for his education; and in the year 1790 he entered the Irish Brigade, in which he served until the progress of the events of the revolution made him quit France and join the army of the Emigrant Princes. He was promoted to the rank of Captain, and served under the command of the Duke of Brunswick until the breaking out of the war between England and France. He then joined the York Rangers, raised by Colonel Ramsay in the Low Countries; and on the Irish Brigade having been taken into the service of England, in 1796, he resumed his rank as Captain in that corps, in the regiment of his relative, Count O'Connell. He continued in the Irish Brigade until its reduction, when he was appointed to the 1st West India Regiment, and commanded the small force which in 1805, repulsed the repeated attacks of a very superior French force, which attempted the capture of the Island of Dominica. Captain O'Connell was wounded in this action and ordered home on account of his wounds, and for his gallantry and good conduct on the occasion he was presented by the legislature of the island with a sword and a service of plate. He also received a sword from the Patriotic Fund. He was in the same year promoted to a majority in the 73rd Regiment; and appointed Lieutenant-Colonel in 1809. In 1809 the 73rd Regiment was ordered to New South Wales to relieve the New South Wales Corps, and Lieutenant-Colonel O'Connell was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the colony. In 1814 he proceeded in command of the regiment to Ceylon, and in that island commanded a division of the army, which took possession of the Kandyan territory in 1815. Colonel O'Connell continued in command of the 73rd Regiment until 1830, at which time he was stationed at Malta, and had been acting Lieutenant-Governor of that island. He was in 1830 promoted to the rank of Major-General, and in 1842 to that of Lieutenant-General. General O'Connell was made a Knight-Commander of the Hanoverian Guelphic Order in 1834, and received the honour of Knighthood from his late Majesty William IV. In 1838 he was appointed Commander of the Forces in the Australasian Colonies, and in 1843 Colonel of the 81st Regiment. Sir Maurice O'Connell held a seat in the old Legislative Council, and voted always on the popular side. He is also a member of the present House, having been one of the twelve nominated by the Crown, under the recent Act of Parliament for the government of the colony.—Weekly Register.

Police Court Business.—Friday.—This Court was opened on Friday at ten o'clock, before Mr. Brenan; there were seventeen cases on the drunkards' list, which were disposed of as follow:—Three defendants were discharged; two were ordered to pay 5s. each, or go two hours to the stocks; four paid 11s. each; two had their choice to pay a like sum, or go each twelve hours to the treadmill; Patrick Rush, for not paying a guinea, was sent thirty-six hours to the mill; Ann Walker, Elizabeth Welsh, and Catherine Blackman, were each sent twenty hours to the mill, for non-payment of 11s. each; and Mary Whollohan, for non payment of a guinea, was sent seventy hours to the cells; Henry Hughes, for being drunk, a rogue, and vagabond, was sent three months to the treadmill; and Sarah Webb, for being drunk and a street-walker, sent three months to Sydney Gaol. The general list contained in all seventeen charges, of which five were old cases; the list was cleared off as follows:—Mary Ann Pike, on the complaint of Ousley Condell, for stealing £17, discharged,—the prosecutor having informed the Court that the money had been found since she had been given into custody; John Murphy, gambling, admonished and discharged; Wm. Prior, on suspicion of stealing £21, remanded; Joseph Fox, for stealing three kegs of butter from a dray on the Liverpool-road, discharged; Henry O'Brien, for a violent assault, remanded; Susan Flynn, for disorderly conduct, admonished and discharged; William M'Donald, for being illegally on Mr. Raynor's premises, discharged; Isaac Holland and George Page, for house-robbery, both discharged; James Barnwell, for the same offence, committed for trial; Henry Hughes, for highway robbery, committed for trial; Rebecca Vercoe is still in the hospital for protection; Patrick Ellison, for receiving stolen property, Ann Gale and Michael Mears, both on suspicion of stealing, all remanded. There were in all twenty cases on the summons' list, viz.:—John Mitchell Salter v. A. Aitken and wife, for perjury, dismissed; three cases of assault, all dismissed; John Lilwell v. Ann Donohoe, Richard Harrison v. Parlan Watson, for breaches of the peace, cases dismissed; Eleanor Beverly v. Bridget Murphy, for a like offence, the defendant bound to the peace, herself in £10, and two sureties in £5 each; Edward Hitchings v. W. Hill, for a breach of the Hired Servants' Act, case dismissed, not having been brought in time; William Wallace v. Boyle, for stealing a desk, case postponed; Mary Ann French v. Smith, for having a stolen Bible in his possession, case postponed; all the other nine cases were for breaches of the Police Act, and possessed no features of general importance.—Saturday.—This Court was opened on Saturday at a quarter past ten, before Mr. Brenan, with a list of twelve new and two remanded cases; the list was cleared off as follows:—Henry O'Brien, for a violent assault, remanded, as the prosecutor is in the Hospital; William Green, for a breach of the peace, at the instance of Henry Aiken, bound to keep the same, himself in £20, and two sureties in £10 each; George Bolton, for an assault on Ann Thomas, both residents in that well known quarrelling ground in Kent-street, named Brignell's Alley, bound to the peace at the request of the prosecutrix, himself in £10 and two sureties in £5 each; Henry Doyle, for illegally detaining cloth and wearing apparel, remanded till to-day; James Kelly, John Leamy, and Thomas Barry, on suspicion of robbing the Goulburn mail, and Hannah Gorman, now Kelly, to give evidence in the same case, all remanded till to-day; Ann Hammell and Margaret Hodgson, for being drunk and fighting at eleven o'clock at night, in Bathurst-street, and William Bottomly, who, according to his own account, interfered between the amazons to preserve the peace, but unfortunately only made things worse, were all admonished and discharged; Ann Hayes, for protection, admonished and returned to her husband; William Morris, alias Harris, alias Saris, stealing a bundle of regatta shirts from the premises of Mr. Christopher Newton, in Pitt-street, about nine o'clock on Friday evening, was seen by constable Shaw to remove the parcel, and was walking away with it, when he was taken into custody—in defence the prisoner alleged that the parcel had fallen on the ground, and he merely picked it up to carry it into the shop, committed for trial; William Prior, Ann Gale, Michael Meara, and William Prior, all for stealing, or suspicion of that offence, were remanded till to-day; Elizabeth Sullivan, for a breach of the Vagrant Act, was admonished and discharged. There were ten charges on the drunkard's list, four of whom paid 11s. each; two had their choice to pay a like sum, or go twelve hours to the mill; Mary Dillon, also to pay 11s., or go 48 hours to the cells; Ellen Donovan, to pay 21s., or go 96 hours to the cells; John Mulvehill, paid 21s.; and Alexander Johnstone, was ordered to pay a like sum, or go 96 hours to the mill.

Attempted Self-destruction.—About half-past three on Friday afternoon, a considerable crowd was collected in the vicinity of the Circular Quay, by the cries of a female, who was plunging about in the water, about seven yards from the shore; one of the convicts at work on the building plunged in and brought her ashore very much exhausted. After she had been so far recovered as to give an account of herself, she stated that she had quarrelled with him, and left his house, on which he took her child from her, and therefore she was trying to drown herself, when the man pulled her out of the water; she was sent to the watchhouse for protection and brought up on Saturday. Her husband then attended, and handed in a written statement to the Bench, when she was ordered to be returned home to his residence, on the understanding that he was to allow her to go to what place of worship she pleased, and that there were to be no more quarrels nor Police Court business between them.

Death from Drowning.—On Saturday last, an inquest was held at Mr. Ward's public-house, Bridge-street, on the body of a seaman belonging to the barque Seamander, named Jacob Goulding, who was found floating in the Cove the same morning, by a man named Morris, who is atached to the diving-bell vessel. Morris deposed that the deceased had only his shirt on at the time, and a red fluid similar to blood was running from the nostrils. It appeared in evidence that deceased had quarrelled with a shipmate, named King, on the night of the preceding Saturday, when some blows were exchanged. The vessel was lying at Wilson's Wharf at the time when the deceased went ashore and asked the watchman to take King into custody, who refused, seeing the other was under the influence of liquor. Goulding then went from off the wharf with the alleged purpose of getting a policeman, after which time he was not seen until found drowned. Mr. Surgeon Russell gave it as evidence, that the body did not bear any marks from which it might be inferred deceased had received any violence, and from the general appearance of it he was of opinion that death had proceeded from apoplexy and drowning; the blood flowing from the nostrils was likely to be produced by the decomposition of the body. It having been suggested by Mr. Brenan that the deceased had probably stripped for the purpose of swimming to the vessel, and nothing appearing in evidence to the contrary, a verdict of found drowned was returned.

EXPEDITIOUS THIEF CATCHING.—On Wednesday evening last, about eight p.m., a house near the middle of Hunter-street, which had been taken some weeks before by Mr. Hillier, of Campbell-street, from Mrs. Carroll, was plundered of several feather and flock beds, pillows, bolsters, looking-glasses, &c., with nearly 80 lbs of mould candles, under the following circumstances. About the time already mentioned, a cart drove up to the door, when the man who accompanied it was observed to open the window, by which he entered, and then opened the door, and commenced loading the cart. The private watchman on the beat enquired by what authority he was taking the things away at such an unseasonable hour: when the carter told him, that he did so by the orders of his master (Hillier), who had become insolvent, and was desirous that the things should be removed before his creditors seized them. The watchman had made arrangements for seeing where the cart went to, but some noise in the street prevented him from doing so. On Thursday information was given to the police, when Inspector Nugent, with constables Shaw and some others of the police commenced a search, and in the course of the day they succeeded in apprehending a man named Brumwell, assigned to the brother of Mr. Scrutton, of Bridge-street, while in the act of taking the property to be sold by public auction, at Mr. Price's mart, King-street. There were also two other men, named Holland and Page, apprehended in the course of the day as accessories. The case came on for hearing on Friday, when Mr. Hillier identified the property as part of some he had purchased from Mr. Holborow; the latter also identified it as being the same he had sold to the prosecutor. Mr. Scrutton also proved that Brumwell, on the night of the robbery, had brought the property in the cart to his premises, and on being asked where he had got it, the prisoner informed him he had bought it at a distress sale in Parramatta-street, and gave the name of the auctioneer he had bought it of. Mr. Scrutton made it his business to see the salesman early on Thursday, when, the latter having expressed his ignorance of the transaction, such information was soon after given as led to the apprehension of Brumwell, who was fully committed on Friday to take his trial for the offence. The only circumstance against Holland being, that he was a companion of the prisoner Brumwell, he was discharged, as well as Page, who had been the carter employed to remove the articles to the house from which they had been stolen.

CONSEQUENCES OF DRINKING TO EXCESS.—On Thursday last an old man named Fox, who acts as an ostler at one of the public-houses on the Liverpool-road, was brought before the Police Bench, charged with being an accessory to stealing three kegs of butter from a dray belonging to John Dover, blacksmith, at Bengunya. From the evidence given, it appeared that the owner of the dray drove up to the public-house where Fox was employed, and was very much intoxicated; there were two women in company with him, whom he treated to a glass or two. On his ordering beds to be prepared for himself and companions, the landlord told him that he ought to get his property placed in safety by bringing it into the house. The prosecutor declined doing so, when Fox was directed to keep a look out and see that nothing was taken away. Fox kept going out and in to the kitchen instead of taking up his place on the bed in the dray. In the morning when Dover had recovered his senses, he found three kegs of butter had been taken away; but as he could not swear that they were on the dray when he drove up to the public house, nor that he had even given them in charge to Fox, the latter was discharged, and Dover, having been informed that in future if he wished to avoid getting plundered while travelling, he should drink nothing stronger than tea or coffee, was told that the Court could afford him no remedy.

ROBBERY.—Another case of loss by neglecting to lodge savings in the Bank, came on before the Police Bench, on Friday, when it was given in evidence that the prosecutor, a young man in the employ of Mr. Walker, butcher, Bathurst-street, had amassed £21; but instead of placing it in the Bank, he kept it in his pocket. A few nights since, when he went to bed, he left his money all right, but in the morning when he arose the whole was gone. As there were four or five others sleeping in the same room, it was found impossible to say who had taken it until Thursday last, when one of his companions, by drinking, buying clothes, &c., brought suspicion on himself, as within two days of the time when the money was stolen he had been trying to borrow money from his fellow-lodgers. He was remanded, to allow further enquiries to be made into the affair.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

MURRURUNDI.

SEPTEMBER 5.—In pursuance of a requisition to that effect, addressed to D. Thomson, Esq., M. D., J. P., a meeting of the inhabitants was convened at the Court House, Murrurundi, on Saturday, the 2nd instant, to take into consideration "the propriety of petitioning His Excellency the Governor to suspend the operations of the District Councils during the monetary depression of the colony."

Proposed by Dr. Gill and seconded by Mr. Wightman, that Dr. Thomson do take the Chair. Carried. After much desultory conversation it was proposed by Dr. Gill, that a Committee be appointed to prepare a petition to His Excellency the Governor, requesting the suspension of the operation of the District Council during the monetary depression of the colony, and arranging one for the District Council.

Seconded by Mr. Alexander Brodie. Carried

Proposed by Alexander Brodie, that Dr. Gill, Mr. Wilkie, and Mr. J. M. Steele, be the members of that Committee. Supported and carried.

Proposed by Mr. Rundle, that a clause be embodied in the petition showing that our roads are in a fair travelling condition, and that to effect any material improvement will require an expenditure exceeding our income.

Seconded by Mr. A. Brodie and carried.

Proposed by Mr. J. M. Steele and seconded by Peter Brodie, Esq., that—from "the stagnant position of Captain Dumaresq, member for the County of Brisbane in the Legislative Council, we can have no confidence either in his talents or inclination to serve us," and that therefore William C. Wentworth, Esq., member for Sydney, be requested to lay this memorial before the Council, and give to it his advocacy.

Proposed by Mr. J. P. Wilkie, as an amendment to Mr. Steele's motion, that the words in italics be omitted, and "that Mr. Wentworth be respectfully solicited to present the petition to the Legislative Council." Seconded by Dr. Gill. The amendment was put and carried.

Proposed by Mr. J. P. Wilkie, that as Mr. Coxen has offered to forward the views of this district, a copy of the proceedings of this meeting be forwarded to that gentleman, to be by him laid before the District Council of Scone on Tuesday next, in order that the District Council may be aware of the feelings of the people of Murrurundi on the subject.

The Chair having been vacated by Dr. Thomson, and filled by Peter Brodie, Esq., it was moved by Mr. Adam Wightman, and seconded by Dr. Gill, that the thanks of the meeting be offered to Dr. Thomson for his able and impartial conduct in the Chair. Carried.

As the result of the late rains the country in the neighbourhood looks beautiful, while accounts from the Namoi, Mooki, Liverpool Plains, &c., correspond with ours to you, and without an exception run thus:—

"Rivers running—creeks bank high—grass and herbage growing fast, and looking beautifully green—stock of all kinds in splendid condition. In fact, every thing is here to make the settler rejoice; but the knowledge of the want "of the root of all evil," and that want, despite his utmost exertions, he cannot get rid of.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

BANK OF AUSTRALIA.

To W. H. Mackenzie, Esq.

DEAR SIR,—The report of the Bank meeting in to-day's Herald will no doubt have attracted your attention. It is incumbent on me to give public contradiction to the mendacious slander conveyed in it respecting myself. Being altogether ignorant of the grounds of the imputation, and as you can best explain your own entry, I have to appeal to you for such information as you can give, and request you will at the same time say whether I have ever, either directly or indirectly, "helped myself" to the funds of the Bank, or countenanced, without the sanction of the Board, any measures materially affecting its interests.

I am, dear Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. B. SPARK.

Friday Evening, Sept. 8, 1843.

To A. B. Spark, Esq.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of the 8th instant, I did notice the article in the Herald to which you allude, and I have this day examined the entry in the books, and find that the bills alluded to were renewals of others, for which security had been given to the Bank. This explanation, I understand, was given by Mr. John Walker, at the meeting.

To the latter part of your letter I can confidently assert, that in no instance have you unduly interfered in the promotion of your own interests, or in any general measures affecting the Bank; and that you never countenanced any measures but which were supposed to be for the advantage of the Bank, although unhappily the present appearance is contrary to the good which was anticipated to result therefrom.

I am, dear Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
W. H. MACKENZIE.

Sydney, Sept. 9, 1843.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald

Gentlemen,—Mr. Mackenzie's reply to my letter enables me to identify the transaction alluded to in your report of the Bank meeting as part of that objectionable, but then prevalent, system—the renewal of bills; and I much regret, that in your report the bane and the antidote were not equally applied. That I am indebted to the Bank is the whole of my offence, and it is a circumstance which has given me deep affliction; but I unequivocally deny that I have ever, either directly or indirectly taken advantage of my position as Director in that establishment, to "help myself," or without the sanction of the Board to promote any of those measures which have been adverse to its stability. It is easy, in reviewing past events, to detect, when too late, the fallacy of operations, and to demonstrate the line of conduct which would have obviated misfortune and led to good results; but the present condition of the colony demonstrates, that nearly all parties were the subjects of hallucination, and adversity came like a pestilence, which no human prudence could avert. With this impression, I yield to the loss of affluence with the less regret, but cannot submit to a stain on my character, when I feel that I have ever acted most conscientiously in the discharge of my duty as a Director in the Bank of Australia, notwithstanding what may appear at this moment, under altered circumstances, to my prejudice.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
A. B. SPARK.
